Eagles build high nests; but lay their eggs in the snow. They feel the cold but hope in the coming spring.

Eaglets crave food, the mother feeds them only the best; spotting their pray from miles away. They have two sets of eye lids, one for on earth and one for soaring in sun shine.

Eagles mate for life. Together, they soar to great heights, then drop like stones. The falling female, keeps her wings closed. Suddenly the male opens his wings, and raises the female up.

They soar together.

They repeat this; reversing roles. The female is the up lifter for the male. They uplift and complete one another.

The mother makes a cosy nest, the eaglets grow, it's time to leave. She shakes up the nest, they panic. Comfort, security, safety, feels lost.

She throws the birds out, they are ready, but do not know it. She drops them until they find the current. They do not simply fly, but soar on the wind.

In storms all other birds hide. Not the eagle. Soaring high they head, mounting up on the wind; its power is their strength. Thousands of feet above the storm, majestically they soar.

As they grow old they find water, they rest and bathe old wounds; often loosing feathers.

Then they wait.

Feathers re-grow - more waiting.

They preen; oil glands lubricate the wings until they are ready to fly.

Fully restored they soar again

Old, young, strong, weak, you too can be like the eagle if you put your trust in God:

“ Do you not know? Have you not heard? The LORD is the everlasting God, the Creator of the ends of the earth. He will not grow tired or weary, and his understanding no one can fathom.

He gives strength to the weary and increases the power of the weak. Even youths grow tired and weary, and young men stumble and fall; but those who hope in the LORD will renew their strength.

They will soar on wings like eagles; they will run and not grow weary, they will walk and not be faint." Isaiah 40:26-31
